Note Taking Solutions – Conference Real Time Electronic Communication - Info Sheet

This service facilitates Deaf, hard of hearing people and foreign delegates whose first language is not English. The transcript is projected onto an overhead projector screen enabling an audience to follow proceedings in real time.

What is Conference Real Time Electronic Communication?

It is a live reporting service for people who are Deaf, hard of hearing or foreign delegates whose first language is not English. The transcript is projected onto an overhead projector screen enabling an audience to follow proceedings in real time.

This service can be used in both professional and academic settings with the resulting transcript customised to client's requirements and emailed within 48 hours.

Real Time Electronic Communication can also be provided on an individual basis (laptop to laptop) if required by the client.
